CRAWFORD'S!

Take Western Elevator.

Get out on the east side and if you don't say, "My!" we're mistaken.

Our Art Pottery display is now complete. We wagered that half the women passing these wares would make use of the expressive feminine "My!" and out of 47, who passed by within ten minutes, 29 did say, "My!" many adding other words, as "Aren't they beautiful?" or "What lovely shapes." The Barbotine Vases, Water Jugs, Pelican and Onida Jugs, Urns and Baskets were the most admired, although the New Brasses and Quaint Pearl Wares received a big share of praise.

We think we have the handsomest, and we know we have the lowest priced Art Pottery in town.

An odd little Onida Jug, 40c; a large Jug, $5. Will be pleased to have you inspect our new wares.

Notes.

The handsomest large Plaid Cloth for Skirts and Suits of the season, rich subdued shades, 54 inches wide, $1.25; specially suitable for Children's Cloaks, and to combine with the Lady's Cloth and heavy Henriettes that Crawford has at 50c, 65c, 75c to $1 the yard.

The Pekin stripe craze has reached Hat Ribbons. Velvet Striped Gros Grains, all shades, 50c. Have you seen the new Cloak for baby? All-over embroidered in silk, Gretchen skirt attached to plaited waist, with satin piping; cute little puffed sleeve with deep wristband, in cream and colored cashmere, $6.50.

New Crop.

HE-NO Tea.

The HE-NO Tea now being sold by all leading grocers is of the NEW CROP, and superior in every respect to any previous importation.

What Is He-No Tea?

HE-NO is simply the young and tender leaves of the tea plant cured in the natural way. That is, it is NOT COLORED or MANIPULATED to make it look nice, and is absolutely free from all adulterations. Its SOLE merits are found in its drinking qualities.

HE-NO Tea has received 7 Gold Medals at Expositions for "PURITY and QUALITY." No other Tea ever received one.

Be sure you get the genuine.

IN A BAD FIX.

The Peculiar Predicament of the Tory Government.

A Very Strong Anti-War-in-the-Spring Combination.

Sensational Scenes at the Trial of Lord Mayor Sullivan and Editor O'Brien—A New Version of the Hughes-Hallett Scandal—The Crusade Against the House of Lords—Blaine in Paris—A Scheme to Bridge the English Channel—Papal Jubilee Gifts—Mexican Politics—Foreign News.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, October 6.—The Government is placed in a very queer straits by the Coroner in the Mitchellstown inquiry issuing summons to Brownrigg to produce his special instructions to the police. These instructions, apparently, superseded Gladstone's order, in 1880, that the constabulary were to request permission of the chairman to give them accommodation on the platform. The Irish party now have the Government in a fix. Either they must desert their officer and allow him to be committed for contempt of court, or they must confess themselves before the world responsible for the Mitchellstown murders.

The revival of the Madagascar difficulty corresponds with the general expectation here. When Gen. Willoughby, the English Commander of the Queen's forces, left here, he prophesied an early rupture, which would arise when France tried to put an extreme interpretation on the protectorate. France is very weak diplomatically, and has been further weakened by Italy's adhesion to the German alliance and England's sympathy with it. The chances are, therefore, that Madagascar will win.

THE NEW ALLIANCE.

Now that Crispien has made a positive declaration that Italy has gained the Austro-German alliance as proof of her interest in the maintenance of peace and balance of power, the pressure on Germany to take a similar step, to which I referred yesterday, grows stronger. Practically, the new alliance will have for its principal object the maintenance of peace next year. It is really an anti-war-in-the-spring combination.

THE ENGLISH HOME-RULERS.

Members of the English Home-Rule Union who have been traveling in Ireland have come back with enthusiastic reports of their reception. They are delighted with the people, their simplicity, friendliness and passive disposition. There is now a regular system of communication on Irish affairs between the English and Irish politicians.

THE CRUCIAL CONGRESS.

The address by Chamberlain, the Socialist, at the Congress was very well received by the majority of the clergy present. They booed down his allusion to the Queen and more than one of them went almost the whole length with him. There was a slight but perceptible infusion of Socialism in nearly all the speeches which followed.

SENSATIONAL SCENES.

The Trial of Lord Mayor Sullivan and Editor O'Brien.

DUBLIN, October 6.—The trial of Lord Mayor Sullivan and Mr. O'Brien for publishing in the papers respectively controlled by them reports of meetings of suppressed branches of the National League, will open at the Mansion House Court this afternoon. At the hour, 1:30 p. m., great crowds of people line the route which will be taken by the Lord Mayor and Mr. O'Brien and the corporation of the city, which will attend them in state during the trial.

OVATION TO THE PRISONERS.

2:30 p. m.—The Lord Mayor was driven to the court in a carriage, which was followed by Messrs. John Dillon, M. P., ex-Lord Mayor E. Dwyer and Charles Dawson, ex-Sheriff Peter McDonald and others. The city marshal, wearing a cocked hat and sword, led the civic dignitaries, who were all arrayed in the full robes of their offices. Mr. O'Brien joined the procession soon after it started and proceeded to the court.

The streets through which the procession passed to the court were thronged and the Lord Mayor and Mr. O'Brien were the recipients of a great ovation along the entire route. Policemen wandered singly through the crowd. A cordon of police surrounded the Mansion House and prevented the crowd from approaching the court-room. There were fifty municipal officers present in the court. After the case had been called by the magistrate.

A WARM DISPUTE OCCURRED

between the police attendants in the court and Mr. Sexton, Member of Parliament and High Sheriff of Dublin, arising from the desire of the latter to place the city sword and mace before the Magistrate. The police attempted to prevent the placing of the city emblems on the table, whereupon Mr. Sexton and other municipal officers seized the sword and attempted to place it there by force. The police and municipal officers struggled for the possession of the sword, while the spectators in the gallery cheered. Mr. Sexton and exhorting him to "hold on." After a few minutes both sides desisted, and after a parley a compromise was effected and the sword was placed on the Magistrate's bench.

THE OTHER SIDE.

An Interesting Statement by a Personal Friend of Mrs. Hughes-Hallett.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, October 6.—The following statement was made to the Post-Dispatch correspondent yesterday afternoon by an American who was a warm personal friend of Mrs. Hughes-Hallett in the days when, as Miss Emily Schomberg, she was the belle of Philadelphia. It may be accepted as by authority, and considering its source and the extraordinary nature of the excuse made for Col. Hughes-Hallett, it is certainly one of the most peculiar phases of this wholly unparalleled case. It is as follows:

The reports which have appeared in many of the papers to the effect that Mrs. Hughes-Hallett has left her husband and is traveling on the continent preparatory to returning to America and securing a divorce, are totally without foundation. On the contrary, Mrs. Hallett is residing with her husband at his residence in Cromwell road, and is standing staunchly by him, endeavoring to help him live down the scandal which, by weakness in an unfortunate moment, her husband has brought upon himself. Those who are fully acquainted with the unfortunate circumstances of the case can only applaud Mrs. Hallett's conduct, though perhaps to the least instructed in all the horrible details of this most unenviable scandal she may seem wanting in proper spirit and feeling and self-respect, which is so characteristic of American women. Some two years ago Miss Selwyn appealed to Col. Hallett to save her from the extortionate treatment of her own flesh and blood. It is unnecessary to state the circumstances of this money transaction. But, as soon as it came to her ears, Mrs. Hallett, out of kindness of heart, offered the young lady

A TEMPORARY HOME.

"No sooner was she installed there than in the most brazen-faced manner possible she commenced to undermine Mrs. Hallett's influence with her husband, and in a manner which became the talk of all the visitors at the house, she absolutely threw herself in Col. Hallett's way. Her behavior became so outrageous that Col. Hughes-Hallett himself was compelled to ask her to reside elsewhere. When Col. Hallett went to visit friends in the country, by a variety of ways Miss Selwyn succeeded in getting invited to the same houses at the same time. The statement that she met at the house of Mr. Henry Smith by appointment is false. The Colonel was stopping there and Miss Selwyn secured an invitation on the plea that she wished to obtain advice from him regarding the management of her fortune. The various statements asserting that Capt. Selwyn or Mrs. Hallett or Mr. Henry Smith had made the scandal are one and all false. It was made public by Miss Selwyn herself, who desired to compel the Colonel to marry her. I will not attempt to explain this young lady's conduct. Only those who have for the past two years observed the course of her selfish and unscrupulous passion for Col. Hughes-Hallett can understand it. And this view of the affair I make public, not to obtain any pardon or even pity for the Colonel's conduct, or to make more heavy the burden of odium which the young lady already bears, but in the cause of truth and justice and to explain Mrs. Hallett's position to her countrymen and women, whose sympathy she would have."

BRIDGING THE CHANNEL.

A Brilliant Marriage—Sardou's "La Tosca"—Mlle. Almee—Paris Gossip.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, October 6.—A plan has been submitted by Admiral Cloué to the Minister of Public Works, for the construction of a bridge across the English Channel at Calais. The bridge is to be similar to the Niagara suspension bridge and made of iron. There will be passenger ways and a place for railroad trains. The structure, if built, will extend from the Dover Heights to the hills at the back of Calais, enabling ships and steamers to pass underneath without difficulty.

A BRILLIANT MARRIAGE.

The marriage of Mlle. de Rothschild, daughter of Baron Gustave de Rothschild, with M. Albert Sarraute will be celebrated on the 15th instant.

SARDOU'S "LA TOSCA."

Victorian Sardou demands 150,000 francs for the rights in the United States and England of "La Tosca," his new play. He has refused Maurice Grau's offer of 80,000 francs, but is willing to accept 10 per cent on the gross receipts. Mme. Bernhardt intends to star with it next year in America.

DOM PEDRO.

Dom Pedro, Emperor of Brazil, is expected back in a few days, when he will occupy his gorgeous suite of rooms at the Grand Hotel. He has accepted an invitation from the son of the late M. Krupp, and will remain several days in Essen inspecting the great gun works there.

THE OPERA COMIQUE AFFAIR.

The Opera Comique affair is engrossing public attention. Manager Carvalho has been publicly attacked by the press for his management of the company. He has been accused of misappropriation of funds and of neglecting the interests of the company. He has denied all these charges and has offered to submit the matter to a court of law.

THE DEATH OF Mlle. ALMEE.

The death of Mlle. Almee, the opera bouffe actress, was sudden and unexpected. She was buried Tuesday from the little parish church of Notre Dame at Auteuil. A number of actors and actresses attended the funeral. Among the Americans present I noticed Mr. J. M. Coppington and Mrs. and Mrs. Grau. Sarah Bernhardt and Judie sent wreaths. The service was very simple. Almee had quite a fortune, and she has left the greater part of it to the Orphelin des Arts. Her death was due to a surgical operation to which she had to submit some days ago.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

An English Paper's Criticism of the House of Lords.

Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, October 6.—Those who read the signs of the times might view the editorial which appeared in yesterday's Telegraph as promising a curtail by decade the short years of political life still remaining to the House of Lords. Alluding to the fact that, though recently warned off Newmarket Heath for disgraceful conduct, the Marquis of Athol still remains an hereditary legislator, and that there is also one peer who cannot return to England from fear of a criminal prosecution. The article states that there are many members of the House of Lords who would not be admitted into any other body of political life still remaining to the House of Lords. THE SUICIDE OF EDWARD E. CRANE, A YOUNG CIVIL ENGINEER.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. CHARLES, Mo., October 6.—Edward E. Crane committed suicide early this morning, in his room at Merchant's Hotel, with twenty grains of morphine. The deceased was twenty-six years of age, and civil engineer with the Great Central Missouri Railroad. He was well educated and has a father living in San Francisco, Cal., to whom he was frequently writing. He left a letter in which he said he had been thinking of suicide for some time, and that he had met with white in the mines.

JACOB SCHAEFER, the champion billiardist of the world, will arrive this evening at 7 o'clock on the Vandalia. His brother Charles received a telegram this morning from Jake, dated at Pittsburg, announcing the fact.

After a Long Hunt.

ROBERT E. LEE ARRESTED THIS MORNING BY FEDERAL OFFICERS.

Held to Answer a Charge of Making Fraudulent Registrations at the Congressional Election Last November—How He Figured in the Investigation of the Shady Transactions at the Hotel Brown—A Gilt-Edge Road Required.

Some what of a sensation was caused at the Custom-house this afternoon by the arrest of one more of the parties indicted for election frauds last fall. Deputy-Marshal Hussman brought in from 1100 Washington avenue Robert E. Lee, former clerk of the Hotel Brown, who was indicted last April for violation of section 5312 Federal Statute, the indictment of the Grand-jury charging him with registering false names on the books. The district registration office, it will be remembered, was located at the Hotel Brown, and Lee was the day clerk of the establishment. The names registered to which the indictment refers included one name from a disreputable resort on North Eleventh street, no such person being in existence. Lee has been absent from the city during the greater portion of the summer. He is now in the employment of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company. Deputy Marshals have been on the look-out for him for several months and he was heard of at Kansas City and Omaha.

To United States District Attorney Bashaw and Assistant Attorney Knapp he expressed the greatest astonishment at his arrest, and declared positively that he knew nothing whatever of the matter, and had taken no hand in the registration business. The District-Attorney stated that a good bond in the sum of $1,000 would be accepted for his appearance at the next term of court, and to suit the young man's convenience United States Commissioner Crawford at the Custom-house kindly consented to wait in the Federal office until he could produce his bondsmen.

THE TENTH WARD FRAUDS.

The claims that he was innocent of the charges against him are not considered good by the Deputy United States Marshals who have spent considerable time looking for him in the early part of the investigation into the frauds perpetrated at the November election. Lee was badly wanted. On election day the first arrests made in the Tenth Ward, were extensive preparations were made for carrying the day, was Frankenstein alias John Mitchell, and a man who wanted to vote under the name of Wm. Christian. Both men claimed they boarded at the Hotel Brown, now the Hotel Brown, southwest corner of Twelfth and Olive streets. Supervisor Smith, who boarded at the Hotel Rodier, and who had just arrested the boarders at the Hotel Brown, ordered the arrest of the two men. Several statements came to their assistance and accompanied the prisoners to the United States District Attorney's office. On the way to the way to the third government building Christian escaped. Just after noon the cash-book and register of the Hotel Brown were produced to prove that the men were not impostors, but on examining them the Deputy Marshals suspected that they had been doctored to answer the requirements of the case came over to District Attorney Knapp, who ordered the books to be impounded for the Grand-jury. It happened that there a second Robert E. Lee in the ward, and a third prominent in politics, living in the Sixth Ward, from the Hotel Brown, now the Hotel Brown.

CONSIDERABLE CONFUSION AROSE.

The Grand-jury wanted Lee to explain the entries in the books and to explain the names of transient guests at the hotel having appeared to appear on the Recorder's office as registered voters. He could not be found, however, and the Grand-jury took a recess, hoping to be able to find the missing man by the time for reassembling in January. The marshals failed to locate him, but the jury adjourned an indictment was returned against him. With this most urgent communication, the marshals made several trips to places he was accustomed to frequent, but never succeeded in locating him until today, when he was taken into custody as stated. Several of the cases of election fraud now pending in the United States District Court grew out of occurrences at the Hotel Brown.

EGAN ESTABLISHED A REPUTATION.

Mr. Charles Egan established a reputation as a politician in the election. This is the precinct in which only one vote was found, although the registrations amounted to nearly 500. Egan's defense was partly that his books had been tampered with while his office was located at the Hotel Brown. He claimed that he was in the drawer of which he stored his books on leaving for the night. It was while out of his possession that some of the registrations were made by persons unknown to him. These statements directed the Grand-jury to look into the matter. It was to explain his innocence and to tell what persons were seen about the books during his first visit to the hotel. The Grand-jury first wished to interview the person who will now be obliged to explain the charges against his own innocence to the Court. He will be released on bail until his case is set for hearing, when he will be tried on a charge of making false registrations.

GOULD GETS IT.

Sale of the B. & O. Telegraph to the Western Union Company.

NEW YORK, October 6.—It is announced that the sale of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph to the Western Union Company has been completed. The contract was signed this morning. Mr. Gould says he does not yet know the exact price, but that the Western Union will have sufficient stock to take up the indebtedness and capital stock of the Baltimore & Ohio. Nothing more definite in regard to the terms will be made public before 3 p. m. The matter has now been referred back to the Baltimore & Ohio directors for ratification. Although the officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company decline to make any statement formally in regard to the Baltimore & Ohio matter, it is given out by the officials in an informal way, under a promise to use no names, that the papers for the transfer of the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph to the Western Union Company are already virtually under Western Union control. The contract signed includes not only the Baltimore & Ohio Telegraph Company's lines, but the wires and the exclusive right of way of the railroad company. This gives the Western Union, as well, the right to the wires on the Western road. All the avenues to New York by the telegraph lines are now owned by Western Union, the only other wires entering the city coming by high way. The price or other details of the transaction cannot yet be obtained.

OBITUARY.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

JERRYVILLE, Ill., October 6.—Hon. P. V. N. Davis of Anna, Ill., aged 65, who has been here the past week under treatment by Dr. Allen, died suddenly at the hotel here this morning at 10 o'clock of congestion. He was a member of the Legislature in 1884 from Union County, and was a prominent Old-Father and a man of means. His remains will be taken to Anna to-night.

WILL DISBURSE $1,000,000.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 6.—Judge Graham yesterday issued an order to Receiver McGuire of the Wabash road, east of the river, that he will disburse $1,000,000 in the company's treasury in taking up past due coupons on the first mortgage bonds.

"My death rests a good deal on the conscience of Mr. J. G. Priest, who cannot get a situation because my feet are lame. The lameness was caused by John G. Priest some seventeen years ago, when I was a clerk in his office and he obstinately refused to let me go when my feet began to swell. He then stood in the cellar on the bare floor to make a note place from it. He confessed it to my brother Papin. The lameness since then goes from day to day worse. When three months ago I

COUPLE OF GENTLEMEN SLEEP IN A STATION-HOUSE ON THIS CHARGE.

James S. Robbins' Badly Pummelled by Miss Cora Smith's Brothers, Tells How He Met the Young Lady—A "Sawed-Off" Telegraph Operator Who Got Into Trouble in a Similar Way.

that morning in his cell looking rather ragged and careworn. He is a man of medium height, well built and fashionably dressed, but his conversation betrayed the fact that he was from the country and he admitted the fact, though he refused to state the exact locality. Robbins made the following statement to WEST-DISPATCH reporter:

A QUEER STORY.

ing to see the Hendricks parade, and the standing on the corner of Fourth and Washington avenue this girl, Cora Smith, spoke one of my friends and he went up and told her. She was very affable and did represent his attentions in the least. He told her about five minutes and as we were to hear the music in front of the Lindell Hotel he agreed to meet us on the southeast at the appointed time he did so. The girl also in the vicinity, and my friend suggested that I should speak to her and ask permission to escort her home. I did so and she was glad of the change. We then went to her home, No. 1525 North Seventh street, where I met and was introduced to some other young ladies and her two brothers. We sat and talked until about half-past 10, when I prepared to leave. Cora accompanied me to the door, and I put my arm around her waist friend to become the following evening (Friday), but she pleaded another engagement and told me to call Wednesday evening and she said she would either be home or would meet me on the adjoining pier at about 8:30. Yesterday evening I made my appearance at about 8:30 and she was waiting for me. She had come from the house, but concluded for some reason not to go in. I walked South on Seventh Avenue, and met the girl, who was carrying a pocket. I said "Hello, Cora," and she gave me some reply and passed on. I waited for some time and I next saw her in about ten

Two men, whom I recognized as brothers, I approached the group, and they then said: 'You are the fellow I want,' grasping me at the same time by the arms of my coat. He then struck me on the head and I broke loose and ran, after hearing a suggestion concerning a knife. They wed and I ran into a private barn, where I hid. Unmercifully pounded me. They insisted on my going to the police station, and as I had had nothing wrong with me and was locked up.

The complainant further declared that on a remarkable day, the complaining witnesses are Nellie Ann, Annie Garvin, and a very young girl and a young man. Adelle made the following statement: "I am, as you see, very small and frequently annoyed by children and those who follow me making remarks about my appearance. Last night I was in the vicinity of the theatre and Franklin avenue, and a group of children gathered around hooting and making me 'sawed off' and 'Hammered' and annoying me otherwise. I was driven away several times, and sud-

"I did not do it, but if I could have found a way to do it, I would have cheerfully killed some of our children." The reporter called at the residence on the third floor of No. 817 H Sixth street, where he found the mother and her two little girls, Mrs. James Garvin. The children were at school, and Mrs. Garvin said that her youngest child, a boy named Myrtle, was the little man waiting in the hall at the restaurant below. He said Nellie over and said: "Come here, my dear, and kiss me." She ran over and her into an alley. The children told me to tell my husband who went down and he was arrested. I also learned that he had another little girl a dollar to come with him just a few moments, before."

Garvin said that she would not let her girls go into court as witnesses so that she would probably get off scot free.

ENCE ALBERT Suits at FAMOUS.

The New Tailor-Made Gowns.

The Philadelphia Press.

New York is the dressiest city in the world, the coming season promises to be the dressiest that New York has ever seen. The dressmaker and the modiste have divided the fashions of the earth between them, outdoors and indoors, the house to the other, and it would be costume a lady for the promenade now, ways, the tailor is to the fore. The tailor as he presents it for September early October wear is not the tailor of a season or two ago. It has not increased many colors to be sure. A full half gray, London smoke, three or four green, the new Gobelins blue and a peculiar crimson about complete its line. The material, too, is no hasty to come. The tailor spurns excellence, the is a fine, soft, smooth, ladies' cloth, colored and fitting from top to toe without a wrinkle. There is a decided innovation, however, in the amount of trimming that is used. Gold and silver braid and dark, rich hues, have broken through the charmed circle, and, within limits, the more of them the better. A tailor gown assumes the more of a tailor's it is.

MARKET.

NEW YORK, October 6, 11 a. m.—The stock market was rather heavy at the opening this morning, most stocks showing declines from the previous day's closing. The market was quiet, though, and the closing was not very active. The entire list was strong from the opening, but Western Union and Rock Island, which had advanced the former rising 2 1/2 and the latter 1 1/2, were the only ones to spend the day at 40. The advance was checked at 10:40, and the market became ready at 11:00 to take the advance. At 11:05 the market is quiet.

diver 64. The stock market became increasingly dull after 11 o'clock. Prices betrayed a drooping tendency and slight declines were established throughout the list, but the dealers were entirely devoid of special features. Toward noon, however, there was more activity, and the market was somewhat revived. At noon the market was active and strong at the highest prices reached.
